Champhai Trip Memorabilia

Dr. Soukarja Ghosal
Assistant Professor,
Department of English,
Govt. Khawzawl College,
Khawzawl-796310, Mizoram,

Rabindra Nath Tagore, the famous Indian poet, once said that we should taste the nectar of our local, the regional culture per se and enjoy the natural beauty rather than getting immersed in a culture which is foreign and thus unknown to us. He rightly said "I went to visit the vastness of sea and the towering mountains. But I did not notice the charming beauty of paddy when it blinks in sun light." Hence, a plan to visit Zopui Phul and some other places of interest in Champhai, the neighboring district of Khawzawl, Mizoram was germinated and was actualized when our driver Ruatpuia revved up the engine of our college bus from Vengthar with around 30 staff members on board. The journey was flagged off metaphorically by the respected principal Sir Pu R. Lalrintluanga, who also graced the trip by being one of the on-board passengers.
